

GIVE AND TAKE

Hauptstraße 46

The project "Give and Take" is a shared kitchen where the local shops and restaurants can show their goods. Therefore, they can extend their customers. Besides, it's a place where the residents have chances to communicate, help each other, meet new people, and even exchange free meals.

Here is originally an unoccupied space, after the redesign, it's not only a meeting point in the neighborhood but also a connection between the city and the river so that people can reach to nature more easily.

The parking lot opposite the shared kitchen has been rezoned, and ten parking spaces have remained, but as flexible usage, people can organize a flea market on the weekend. The other side is a vegetable garden where the residents can experience urban farming and the power-generating bikes which people can work out. As a result, it can practically achieve self-sufficiency.

The indoor space is cozy and bright. The primary material is wood, tile, and stone. People can hold a cooking studio here. Besides, the ingredients and tools displayed on the shelves are from the local shops. Thus people can taste the qualities then buy after then. There is a cafe bar at the front of the kitchen which can attract people to stop by and get to know the place. Last but not least is the wine bar for people to taste the local wine. Consequently, here is a stage for Gloggnitz to express itself.
